MR. AND MISS PHS

Gerald Brookshire

Brenda Tipton

It is with a recognition of our great loss that we, his classmates, dedicate this yearbook to the memory of Bruce Powell. May his family and friends take comfort in the knowledge that he had the love and respect of all who knew him.

With the increase in emphasis upon the value of an education, it is imperative that every person take advantage of his opportunity to absorb as much knowledge as is possible.

Many individuals fail to do this while still young and the opportunity is before them. Let me urge each of you to take full advantage of your educational opportunities in order that your life will not be filled with regrets later. When the uneducated must compete with the educated for a job or a livelihood, the scales are heavily weighted in favor of the educated person.

As you, who are still students, glance through the pages of this book, let them remind you that your school is the place to prepare to fight the battles of the future, as well as a place to play, make friends and live the carefree life today.

Sincerely,

Cecil A. Gardner
