INTRODUCTION

This booklet is a reproduction, with the permission of Dr. Peter A. Brannon, Director of the State Department of Archives and History, Montgomery, Alabama, from the Spring Issue, 1961 (Vol. 23 No. 1 and 2), of the Alabama Historical Quarterly which is published by the State Department of Archives and History.

The map in this article, on which military incidents are located within their present-day county boundaries, and the printed material accompanying it are exceedingly important to all those who would understand the clash of arms in the state during the Civil War.

A great variety of military events in the state are classified in accordance with the Army Regulations and Rules of War of the Confederacy. Each event is listed according to its classification in a tabulation showing the place and county in which it occurred together with the date. A chronology of events in each county can be easily established from these tabulations.

The map in this booklet can profitably be studied along with the Civil War Centennial Map, published in January, 1961, by the Alabama Highway Department. The latter map, which contains various kinds of instructive information, delineates the course of each military raid in the state during the war. It was constructed out of information furnished by the State Department of Archives and History and was endorsed by the Alabama Civil War Centennial Commission.

This article and the two maps provide a priceless overview of military actions in Alabama during the Civil War. Not only can more than 300 military events, including Naval operations, now be identified and located, but they can be related in a meaningful way to Federal raids or campaigns in the state.

In the voluminous writings on the Civil War the region of the upper South is considered the major battle ground of the war. The military activity in the region of the lower South, especially Alabama, has received little attention. The fighting in Alabama began during the first year of the War, but was most active in 1964 and 1865. This compilation of over three hundred military events at nearly two hundred different places will give some indication as to the extent of the War in Alabama.

This list of military activities in Alabama is compiled from The War of the Rebellion: Official Records of the Union and Confederate Armies and it does not include any military events which are not described in these documents. In an effort to make this list more valuable, each military incident is located within its present-day county boundaries. Many towns and communities in Alabama have changed their name or the spelling of their name since 1865; therefore, the present-day titles of identification are given in parenthesis.

The location of each military event is identified by the type of incident and the date it occurred. Standard military terms for the Army Regulations and Rules of War of the Confederate States are used to describe the types of military events. The following definitions of terms will aid the reader in using this list of military events:

1. Attack: Implies aggression or aggressiveness and literally the initiation of a struggle. Opposed to defense. Onslaught.
2. Action: Stresses the idea of active, frequently sharp, offensive and defensive operations.
3. Affair: A fight.
4. Battle: Usually a prolonged combat.
5. Bombardment: An attack with artillery; to assail vigorously or persistently.
6. Capture: To seize by force or strategem.
7. Campaign: A connected series of military operations forming a distinct stage in a war.
8. Demonstration: An exhibition of force, or a movement indicating an attack as to show readiness for war if necessary.
9. Engagement: Maybe a general encounter, as between armies, or a minor encounter as between subdivisions or outposts.
10. Evacuation: Withdrawal of troops from a town, fortress, etc.
11. Expedition: A journey for a specific purpose, as a military or exploring expedition; also, the body of persons making such an excursion.
12. Investment: To surround with troops or ships to prevent escape.
13. Occupation: To hold possession of; to utilize an area or place for a purpose.
14. Operation: A military and/or naval action or mission including movement, supply attack, defense, and all requisite maneuvers.
15. Reconnaissance: An examination of a territory to gain information of enemy troops, of the terrain, or of resources.
16. Scout: To reconnoiter.
17. Siege: The besetting of a fortified place by an army to compel surrender. A continued attempt to gain possession.
18. Skirmish: Encounter usually incidental to larger movements. A slight fight.
